

EXPANSION OF ART CONSULTANCY CONCEPT

17th November 2015

After three successful years since its founding, ARTGATE is further expanding its art consultancy services for companies, institutions and private individuals:

Above and beyond our continued devotion to our clients in the areas of classical fine art advisory, art supervision and representation, we are broadening our consultancy spectrum to also include digitally generated fine art formats and products. The proceeding digitalisation of existing processes in line with the “industry 4.0” model offers tremendous opportunities for the art sector now and in the years to come. Following this development, we have teamed up with experienced partners to offer our customers additional professional guidance and consultancy in this area. In the first half of 2016, we will kick off a new permanent exhibition and event initiative in Düsseldorf, fostering our firm’s new expertise. More information will follow soon.

Further, we are opening up our activities to the connection between commerce and art for our clients in Europe as well as in exchange with emerging art markets internationally. To underline our increasing work as consultancy firm, we have furthermore decided to adjust our positioning as an art agency towards a consultancy company concept.
