ARTGATE EDUCATION FOR CHINESE ART PROFESSIONALS IN COOPERATION WITH GERMAN MUSEUMS AND ART INSTITUTIONS

Latest Art Management Training: 22.6-3.7.2014 in Berlin and Düsseldorf

Since its establishment in January 2013, the art agency ARTGATE has widely attracted the attention of art professionals from China with its art educational projects. In April 2013, ARTGATE kicked off with a symposium on the Chinese art market on behalf of the Confucius-Institute at the Heinrich-Heine University and under the patronage of the city Düsseldorf. Within just a year, two large-scale educational programmes followed, firstly a project which offered training for Chinese curators on curating art exhibitions and secondly a demonstrative and constructive Art Management Programme.

ARTGATE has been privileged to have had cooperations with outstanding German museums and art organisations for these educational projects. Throughout the cooperation, Chinese art professionals have become more familiar with some of the finest art institutions in Germany. The workshops have contributed and enriched a better understanding with one another as well as strengthening all mutual relationships. Given the globalization trend of the art world, the Art Management Training fostered the cooperative value for all parties involved.

For its latest Art Management Training, ARTGATE affiliated with its partner Chinese Modern & Contemporary Art Document (CCAD), a prestigious research institute for the documentation of contemporary art and the conception of art events, with headquarters in Beijing. During the 12-day training, daily workshops were held from 22nd June until 3rd July with members of staff from the following institutions:

Berlin:

Nationalgalerie im Hamburger Bahnhof – Martin-Gropius-Bau – KW Institute for Contemporary Art – Daimler Art Collection – Gallery Association Berlin – me Collectors room – BOROS Bunker

Düsseldorf:

Stiftung Kunstsammlung Nordrhein-Westfalen – Stiftung Museum Kunstpalast – Kunsthalle Düsseldorf – Museum Morsbroich – Julia Stoschek Collection

The Art Management Training covered some of the most important professional aspects of running an art project from understanding the subject matter leading to methods in curation, organization, finance and communication.
